Walton Muslim Students Association	Robert Phillipps	The purpose of this club is in education, service, and networking. Education: Meetings will involve discussion of Islamic ideals or history. Club members will be called upon by leadership to research topics of discussion. Guest lecturers will also be welcome, such as local Imams (religious leaders) or representatives of similar organizations at other schools. This education will benefit Muslims in the group to improve their knowledge of their religion. However, non-Muslim students will benefit from a better understanding of Islam and Muslims, leading to a more inclusive environment that is less fearful of Muslims. In the wake of terrorist attacks such as 9/11, it is important to condemn such actions and teach the true nature of peaceful Islam. Service: There are many community service obligations for Muslims. Zakat is the payment of a certain percentage of one's wealth to people in need, but the lesser known Sadaqah will likely be the focus of the club. Many Islamic charity organizations exist in Atlanta such as the Islamic Circle for North America.
